Volume 60

This book is the history of a year at Greenville High.

It is not a story of any class, any person, or any team. It is the story of a body: the student body; and how this body has developed over this year.

Some of the story's characters have moved on; some have continued; all have grown, leaving the memories that make this year what it will be someday, in the minds of those who were this year.

To come away from a victory without a swelled head, to come back from a defeat with an unbroken spirit, to praise when someone gives his best, whether it is good enough or not — these together build maturity, a goal of our high school years.

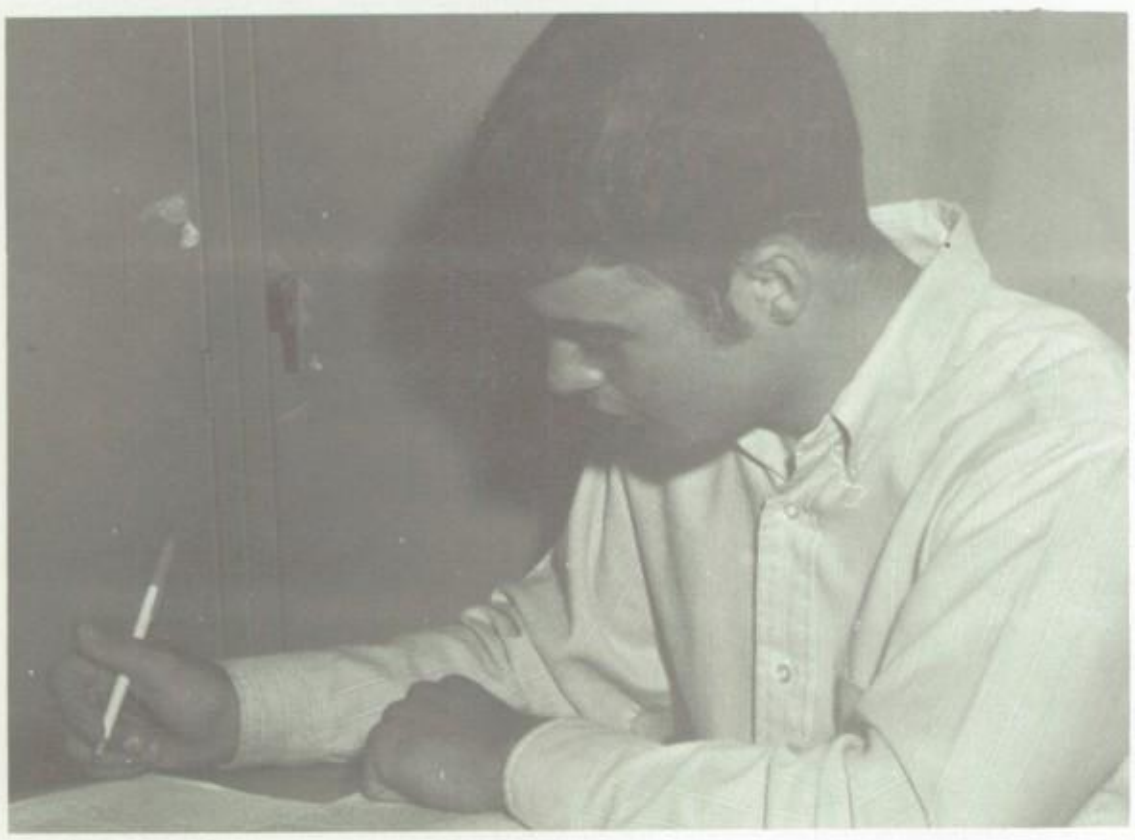
Our program encourages the students to do their best in what interests them and to learn a skill which will prepare them for the future.



In studies, in activities, in duties, it is necessary that a student develop a sense of responsibility as he matures in his high school years. We must all build and grow through an active school spirit so that we may be prepared when . . . "Our day will come."

Darlene Knick leads class of '70 as top salesman

The 1969 magazine sales grossed $314 over last year's sale, showing an improvement in school profit. The sale was highlighted by the personal triumph of Darlene Knick, who led the class in total sales.

With $645 total sales, Darlene won $100 for having the highest sales in the school, earning honor as the highest salesman in the entire nation for all high school magazine sales.

The sale began with a kickoff assembly September 19. Mr. Earl W. Brown, representative from Quality School Plan, explained the sales procedure and talked about prizes and quotas.

Two weeks later, the sale came to a close, as far as prize awards. The sale was continued five days in an attempt to make the goal. At the end of the campaign, the class of '70 grossed a total of $12,119.12 in sales, with 2,391 subscriptions.

Supervising the sales operation were Mr. Charles Devor, yearbook advisor; Vicki Sharp, business manager; Chuck Schmermund, her assistant; Annette Fierst, senior class treasurer; and Paulette Wallischeck, yearbook editor.

The purpose of the sale, financing the yearbook, was successfully accomplished. Altogether the yearbook's share of the total amount was $4,664.97.

Juniors, seniors combine in musical comedy

Members of the junior and senior classes presented a GHS first, a musical comedy, "Where Is the Mayor?" Under Mr. Edward Reck, director, the play was given March 6 and 7 at Memorial Hall.

Ralph Royce, mayor for twenty-four years, was so sick of the job that he spent most of his time fishing. Leroy Walker, using Royce as a front while he made all the decisions, planned to build a highway leading nowhere.

Don Blair, civics teacher, proposed a student day in city government during which, it was revealed an election was due. After an all-out campaign, Don Blair won the election after incumbent Mayor Royce conceded, foiling Walker's plans for the new highway.

Royce proposed to Miss Oppenheimer, and Don Blair unexpectedly proposed to the equally unsuspecting, ex-mayor's secretary, Katie Campbell.

The cast included: Sherri Whitham as Katie Campbell; Dave Lady as Donald Blair; Gayle Light as Miss Oppenheimer; John Schmermund as Jerry; Greg Tantum as Mr. Walker; Kim Smith as Mayor Royce; Christy Dent as Susie; Steve Gruber as Mr. Hadley; Jean Hoover, Shellie Wagner and Joan Davidson as the Three Cheers; Tom Snyder as Harry; Stephanie Payne as Muffy; Margaret Mulder as Miss Ward; Suzy Lehman as Miss Simmons; Barbara Nixon as Miss Rutherford; Kathy Birt, Peggy Browne, Mary Mannix, Marilyn Mulder, and Jane Vore as the extra ladies; and Donna Smith, Patty Nisonger, Pattie Ryan, Alan Cole, Clyde Eldridge, Steve Willman, Dallas Miller, Mark Shepherd, and Tom Buell as the students.

Bonfire, march added to homecoming activities

Homecoming celebrations began with a student march to the band shell for the presentation of the Homecoming Court and escorts and for a pep rally. The court and escorts were Debbie Bing, with Steve Gruber; Angela Copp, with Dennis Koch; Janice Klosterman, with John Schmermund; Darlene Knick, with Tom Bowers; Rosemary Marker, with John Aukerman; and Rose Mary Goodpaster, with Steve Langdon. The pep was provided by Ted Sink, who gave the quote, "you can drown a hill-climber, but you can't climb a wave!"

1969-70 Homecoming: a night filled with memories

As the final ceremony began the contestants were each driven around the cinder track by Steve Anthony, Mike Kidd, Steve Steinle, Kevin Sharp, Tim Sharp, Bill Hunt, Floyd Rogers, and Phil Roth. Lisa Blocher, last year's queen, and Jim Bell, her escort, were also present for the crowning.

The court and their escorts lined up on the field. A name was announced; and the rest is history. By a vote of students Janice Klosterman was selected as the 1969 Greenville Senior High Homecoming Queen. A crowning, a kiss and a promenade with her court on the float built by DECA; Queen Janice began her reign by presiding over the Homecoming game and dance.

Vocal Music Dept. presents "Choir-O-Rama Today"

"Today," was the theme of this year's Choir-O-Rama, held at Memorial Hall May 15 and 16. The program consisted of various segments with different groups and different types of music with each one. The Girls' Glee Club opened the program with the "Modern Side" segment. Among their numbers were "Do You Know the Way to San Jose," "Sunny," and "As Long As He Needs Me." "Spiritual Road," consisting of the Training Choir, followed the Glee Club. Among the selections were "Who Built De Ark?," featuring soloist Sue Hughes, and "Dis Train." "Good Sounds, Old and New" was the segment featuring the Junior Ensemble whose songs included "Over You," "He's Gone Away," and "Bridge Over Troubled Water." The Advanced Choir's first segment was "Sacred Sound." They performed their contest pieces and several other religious songs, including "O Vas Omnes," "Song of Moses," and "The Last Words of David." Next was the "Senior Spotlight," which featured many of the senior choir members in various skits and finally in a salute to the "flicks" of today. The final segment of the program, entitled "Pop Time" featured the Advanced Choir in songs of a lighten nature. Among these were "Aquarius," "What the World Needs Now Is Love," and "By the Time I Get to Phoenix." The program was closed with the "Green and White."

Growing GHS band Represents school

In keeping with the times, the Greenville High School Band has grown with the addition of a kickline. The Wavettes consist of twelve girls and one alternate. These girls competed along with approximately thirty other girls in the fall of last year for their present position in the band. They were taught the basics of marching and some fundamental arm movements for their tryout. They marched with the band this year at Marietta, the Bradford Pumpkin Show, parades, and football games. The Wavettes also performed two special routines at a student Christmas assembly.

The G.H.S. band, under the direction of Mr. Martin Becker, participates in many varied activities. Sometimes their agenda includes an early trip to another town to participate in a band contest, or perhaps playing at the opening of a new highway, marching in a parade, or just providing the half-time entertainment at a football or basketball game. Besides these activities, they also perform at concerts and assemblies. In all these activities, the band brings much credit to our school.

Orchestra plays part In GHS music program

Greenville High School orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Stanley Linder, is a group of approximately twenty-five students working and learning together. Students elected to positions of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer were Eric Gerlach, Charles Rife, and Cindy Westfall, respectively.

Mr. Linder planned to take the orchestra to Sidney for an exchange concert. Greenville hosted Piqua in an assembly concert in the spring.

Memorial Hall resounds with the music Of Swingphonic, guest ensembles

"Big Band Sounds" was the theme of this year's Swingphonic Concert. The first half of the night's performance began with the Wright State Lab Band under the direction of Mr. William Woods. The University of Cincinnati Jazz Band came next, directed by Mr. John Defoor. Mr. McCoy's octet played intermission music.

The Swingphonic Band, consisting of students from the Junior and Senior High Schools, presented the final portion of the program. Directed by Mr. John McCoy, they played several types of songs including "Here, There, and Everywhere" by the woodwind choir, "This Guy's in Love With You" by the stage band, "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy," featuring the Swingphonic Band, and "Our Thing," also featuring the whole Swingphonic Band.

"Camelot": first Open prom in Recent years

A new twist was added to the junior's last tribute to the senior class when this year's prom, titled "Camelot," was declared "semi-open" by the school board. Under this designation, an outsider could buy a ticket and attend the prom, provided his or her date was a member of the GHS junior or senior class.

In keeping with the theme of the prom, the fifteen sophomore servers were dressed as medieval courtiers. The sophomores were their class's top ten scholars, chosen from their class standing.

The gym was decorated with murals of scenes from the movie "Camelot," with a giant crown in the center.

Club banquets Major part of Student life

As has always been true in the past, banquets sponsored by various organizations have been an important part of the student life at GHS.

Various organizations sponsoring banquets were: the Co-op clubs, Latin Club, Modern Language Club, Future Farmers of America, Distributive Education, Future Homemakers of America, and the National Honor Society.

At these banquets guest speakers spoke, new members were initiated, honor students and their parents were recognized, and various awards were given. These banquets, in most cases were held in the spring, marking the climax of the school year.

Elizabeth Hill Award highlights awards assemblies

The introduction of the Elizabeth Hill Memorial Award highlighted this year's Nonacademic Awards Assembly. This award, named after a former GHS chorus teacher, was presented by the Vocal Music Department to the outstanding senior in the choir. This year's award was presented by Mr. Edward Reck to Bev Cromwell. Other musical service awards were presented. John Philip Sousa Award went to Karla Vandivier.

From the Business Department, Mr. Clarence Gueth presented DECA I Students of the Year Awards to Rodney Hathaway and Jacqueline Ross, and the DECA II Students of the Year Awards to Karen Lewis and Bill Hunt.

Sports Recognition Awards were presented to the athletic teams, with special three-year awards in football going to Dan Judy, Jeff Smith, and Mike Badger. The Raudabaugh Trophy for outstanding athlete went to Steve Gruber.

Mr. Charles Devor presented the first, second, and third degree journalism awards, and Mr. Clem Eckstein presented the Modern Language Club service award.

The annual academic awards assembly was held May 22. The assembly was started by the presentation of perfect attendance awards by Mr. John Kennedy and Mr. Carl Weston. Dan Judy was then presented with the Elk's Leadership Award, and Becky Thieme and Ann Thornburg received the State Board Requirement Certificates. Alan Rismiller received the Ohio History Scholarship Test Award, and Pam and Pat Baker were awarded with the Business and Professional Women's Association scholarships. Kiwanis presented Ted Sink with a scholarship. Spencer Clum, Connie Cornett, Nancy Horn, and Tom Bowers received the Americanism Award, then scholarships from Dollars for Scholars were presented to eight seniors. The Citizenship Trophies were then awarded to Karin Alberts and Tom Bowers. The assembly was concluded with the presentation of the salutatorian award to Elese Sizemore and the valedictorian trophy to Pam Baker.

Juniors, seniors tapped into Honor Society

On February 19, 1970, 26 seniors and 14 juniors were inducted into the Greenville Chapter of the National Honor Society. These students were chosen by faculty members on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, and service in the school and the community.

Juniors inducted were Kathy Birt, Janet Shroyer, Gayle Light, Debbie Puckett, Sondra Overholser, Larry Blocher, Alan Bradley, Cathy Wilkens, Winnie Worner, Melonia Reck, Connie Cornett, Joann Shroyer, Neil Cerny, and Christy Dent.

Members who helped with the induction were Pam Baker, Cynthia Westfall, Denise Shane, Paulette Wallischeck, Judy McCoy, Annette Fierst, Karin Alberts, Cindy Huffman, Mike Westfall, Dan Gueth, Dan Judy, Jim Johnson, Jim Birt, and Elese Sizemore.

After being "tapped" by a member of the faculty, each initiate was escorted to the stage by that teacher. A member of the Honor Society introduced the student to Mr. Potts, the superintendent, who placed the society stole around the initiate's shoulders. Mr. Cornett, principal, then presented the National Society pin to each new member. When all the initiates had been presented, they were then sworn into the society by the following creed: "I pledge my loyalty to the National Honor Society and promise to uphold the standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and service which are required for membership in this organization. I will maintain a high scholastic record; I will accept the responsibility of leadership; I will strive to achieve a character above possible reproach; I will make my life one of service to my school, community, church, and any other organization with which I may be associated. I promise that I will, to the best of my ability, live up to the standards of the National Honor Society and conduct myself in a manner worthy of the honor bestowed upon me here."

Greenville girls selected as school royalty

A major part of the student activities at Greenville High has always been its royalty. The girls are chosen on the basis of personality, appearance, and student approval.

Janice Klosterman, senior, represented Greenville not only in the high school, but for royalty contests. Janice was crowned Homecoming queen during pre-game activities this fall. Later she represented Greenville High at the Bradford Pumpkin Show. This spring, she was a contestant in the Rossburg A-Go-Go.

Christa Hittle, Latin Club representative, was crowned princess at the annual combined Language Club dance, Valentine's Day.

FFA chose junior Patty Nisonger to be their sweetheart at the annual FFA Banquet.

Sob Assembly Features songs, Class gifts

The Class of 1970 closed its year at Greenville with a sob assembly that was mainly musical. The songs "On The Beam" and "You've Come A Long Way Baby" were rewritten as praises to the class. "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Where Are You Tonight?," Get Ready," and "Gimme, Gimme Good Loving" were performed by class members. A rather wretched group of Munchkins did a take-off on "The Lollipop League," welcoming the audience with a song. A new awards assembly and a twist on an old commercial were the shows non-musical numbers.

The second half of the assembly saw the class in cap and gown on the stage with Dan Judy reading the class history. The highlight of the half was the presentation of class gifts to the school and Mrs. Griner. The singing of "The Green and White" by the massed class of 1970 brought the assembly to a close.

Seniors file to Harmon Field for Commencement

Sunday, May 31, at eight o'clock, the senior day had come. 267 graduates of the class of 1970 filed onto Harmon Field to receive their diplomas and pass into a new era of their lives. Stormy weather threatened to postpone or cancel the proceedings; but a break in the rains occurred, making the outside ceremonies possible.

The tradition-rich ceremony proceeded with — the national anthem and the invocation, which was offered by Rev. Harold Huffman. Dr. D. R. Purkey, the state's assistant director of vocational education, addressed the class and its spectators with his talk "Looking into the Future."

With the end of the address, Principal Cornett introduced the class as Mr. Ronald Bonfiglio and Mr. William Maxwell presented the diplomas. With that, an era ended for the class: for some graduation marked the end of the beginning. For all, it marked a day to be remembered; either as "the day" or "a day" in the graduates' lives.

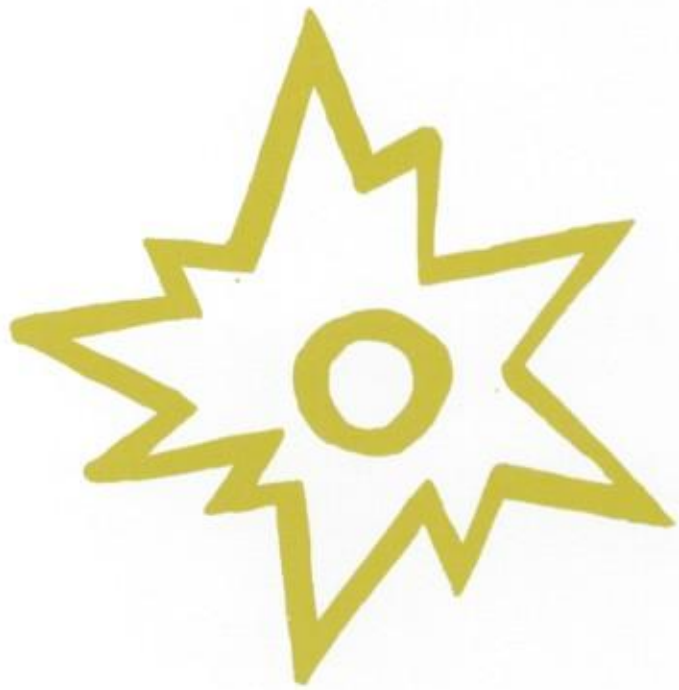
ACADEMICS



"At once it struck me what quality went to form a man of achievement."
Letter to George and Thomas Keats — Dec. 22, 1817.

Business training offers diversity

Diversity is the key word for the business department.

Greenville Senior High students wishing to enter the secretarial field have an opportunity to enter the Business Office Education program.

In BOE the students study Shorthand I, Bookkeeping I, Typing II, office machinery, human relations, and adding machine use.

The BOE class is made up of 28 junior girls. Activities include field trips and office visitation.

DCT and OWE courses taught by Mr. Lewis Dewey and Mr. Wayne Johnson, enable juniors and seniors to learn good work habits and provide them with on-the-job training. They attend school in the morning and work in the afternoon. They also participate in state-wide competition with the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

Distributive Education, composed of sophomores, juniors and seniors, is taught by Mr. Gueth, Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Gordon. They are taught subjects designed to make excellent salesmen out of them, and receive on the job training in commercial businesses. DECA, made up of DE students, has district meetings twice a year and participates in state-wide competition.

COE (Cooperative Office Education) employs the individual skills, knowledge, and attitudes in stenographic, clerical and bookkeeping areas. This is a program in which the employer becomes a partner of the co-oping student in his particular field.

In COE the student attends school on a half-time basis and is working half-time. He is given an opportunity to see the office and to know first-hand the qualities necessary for a satisfactory experience in the office.

English classes Study communication

The study of English must deal with communication from two sides. The student should learn to communicate with others — orally and in writing — and to interpret the communications from others. To build skills in these areas, an English course must offer grammar, spelling, composition, speech and literature.

The English Department experimented with several new innovations in English teaching this past year. During the first nine weeks several English teachers exchanged classes for a short period of time and taught the field of English that they taught best. An English seminar, in which a group of seniors worked with various supplementary materials as well as that work which was required in normal curriculum, was also established.

New electives build bigger curriculum

Several elective courses are offered this year.

A new teacher, Mrs. Coverstone, has taken over the duty of teaching health to the students of GHS. It is a one semester course dealing with first aid, drugs and mental illness.

Psychology, a new course taught by Mr. Taylor, is a basic study of human and animal behavior and tries to explain the "whys" of human activities.

Sociology, taught by Mr. Detrick and Mr. Taylor, is a course designed to improve knowledge and understanding of how people act in plural relationships. It is also designed for understanding the underlying problems of the U.S. and the world.

In the humanities area, students may choose from art, vocal or instrumental music. Students may also take drivers education.

The music department of GHS is provided for the students to develop and improve their music ability and their knowledge of music.

Music theory, new this year to the curriculum of GHS, teaches students the mechanics of music and chorus.

Vo-Ag offers Training experience

Vocational Agriculture offers practical and basic training to students going into farming, agriculture, and agricultural related fields. During the first three years Vo-Ag students receive an in-depth study of farm management, technique, and experience. Unlike the other co-op programs, senior Vo-Ag students co-op on a full-time program.

Part of the Vo-Ag program concerns the student with his community. This year classes promoted farm safety and sent packages to soldiers in Vietnam.

Home Ec. teaches Needed skills

Even in this technological age girls need to learn the art of homemaking in the home economics department. Comprehensive home economics provides practical knowledge for future use. Foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, management of time, money and energy, child development, family relations, home design, and growth and development are the areas of study taught during each of the three years.

Realizing the changing nature of society, the purpose of family living emphasizes the new ideas and principles of the home. This course is designed as a thoughtful look at personal values, goals and expectations. It gives the student a chance to see family situations from different points of view.

Language classes develop usage, reading skills

Latin I, French II, and Spanish I and II comprise the subjects of the Language department. All three instruct the student in everyday usage and reading skills.

French II students use the lab facilities weekly as they listen to tapes and records. Film strips are used to expand vocabulary usage. During the year students subscribe to "Chez Nous," a magazine reporting present French politics, celebrities, and stories. Each year, students are required to turn in a project.

Latin II students apply themselves to reading Latin authors, translating and comprehending Latin works, and studying Greek mythology.

Spanish I students learn everyday usage and relate situations and vocabulary to large flash cards. Second-year students apply this knowledge to reading Spanish works and expanding their reading skills.

Math fields advance As minds grow strong

Because expanding scientific and social horizons create a strong need for personnel trained in the areas of pure and applied mathematics, it is the purpose of the mathematics department to provide a mathematics education which is mathematically sound and useful in our society.

The courses offered by the mathematics department this year are Algebra I, Algebra II, geometry, trigonometry, and advanced mathematics.

Algebra introduces students to formulas, sets, equations, and factoring.

Geometry is the study of geometric figures and terms and their practical applications.

Trigonometry is the solving of triangles by setting up a set of functional relationships based on the Pythagorean theorem. It also involves mathematical phenomena such as waves, vibrations, and alternating currents.

Advanced mathematics merges algebra, trigonometry, geometry, and calculus into a sequence of topics which consider the dependence of each topic on the other.

Shop emphasizes Four subjects

The industrial arts department puts emphasis on preparing the student for the life he will lead once he graduates. For this purpose the industrial arts program is divided into four basic subjects — mechanical drawing, which emphasizes lettering, house plans, machine design, and blue printing; wood shop, which provides experience in cabinet making, refinishing, upholstery, and tool care; metal shop, which gives practice in welding, and working with metal; and automotive shop, which gives seniors opportunity to study various parts of the automobile and to work on simple engines.

Science covers aspects of life

Greenville High School offers BSCS biology, general biology, Biology II, chem-study and physics.

Biology is the study of living things and how they function. Biology II is a course for the college bound science student. It consists of an in depth study of animal and plant biology with independent work by the students, highlighted by lectures and field trips.

Chem-study consists of a different approach to the study of chemistry. Chem-study is based on discovering the principles and theories of chemistry through interpretation of facts discovered by experimentation.

Physics is the study of mechanics, sound, heat, light, electricity and magnetism.

Psychology, JA Add some variety To social sciences

This year, the social science department has added a new classroom subject. Psychology has been offered to students to help them better understand the behavior of others and to be applied practically to the future.

World history presents to the student the background of our history and how it unfolded around the world.

World geography teaches the practical knowledge of the terrain and geographic relation of countries of the world.

From the founding of our nation, through political and war development, to present-day history makings, United States history includes the why's and results.

Civics teaches the senior the problems and background of our political parties, courts, crime, and the responsibilities of voting and international relations.

Sociology is the study of the problems and situations arising from man's interaction with his fellows in organized and unorganized groups.

This year, in the economics class, junior achievement has become part of the classroom work on a weekly basis.

Students stand alert as the ball is butted back and forth during a heated game of volleyball. All physical education activities are co-educational.

Phys. ed and health prepare mind and body

Physical education is offered as a co-educational course as either a four-year program or a two-year program and a semester of health.

During the year, the gym classes take part in golf, archery, volleyball, basketball, kickball, gymnastics, badminton, ping pong, tennis, and softball. Under Ohio's Recreation Physical Education Program, the above activities are offered to students to try to instill some means of recreation that will be useful in their leisure time.

Health, the counterpart of the physical education program, concerns the student with his own mental and physical health. As part of the course, each student learns first-aid bandaging and emergency procedures, preventive health measures, the types and symptoms of mental illness, and the realm and dangers of drugs.

Tom Bowers jumps for the basket during practice.

New adviser joins Future teachers

Future Teachers of America undertook one of their most active years under the supervision of Mr. Philip Saneholtz.

The club began the year with lectures by Mr. Gene Weimer on special education and Ingolf Bottner about the educational systems of the United States and West Germany. A tour of Miami University was the next activity. April saw Jan Dispennette, Connie Coovert, Kathy Birt, and Linda Blocher participate in seminars of social science and elementary education at the FTA state convention at Ohio State. A major activity was the traditional observation day. Each member contacted teachers in area schools and made arrangements to observe and teach classroom activities for one day. Senior members were honored at the spring picnic. Mr. Saneholtz received a gift certificate from the members in appreciation for his services through-out the year.

Science Club visits Dayton Museum

GHS Science Club is an organization consisting of 33 members. The members attended regular monthly meetings during the nine-month school year. They visited the Dayton Museum of Natural History on December 30, 1969.

The officers for the '69-'70 school year were Alan Bradley, president; David Lady, vice-president; Jack Schrader, secretary-treasurer; and Charles Rabley, reporter. Billy Witter was the club's adviser.

110 members Put FFA In "Top Ten"

Founded November 20, 1929 the Greenville chapter of the Future Farmers of America has grown to one of the largest clubs in this school. Membership now totals 110 and it has earned the distinction of being one of Ohio's "Top Ten" chapters.

Mr. Tom Harp, Mr. Lowell McLear, and Mr. Mike Whittington sponsor this organization.

FHA prepares for future

Girls interested in their homemaking future compose this club. They serve at banquets within and outside school. During the year, they decorate the school on special occasions, clean the trophy cases, and attend the state convention.

This year's officers are Doris Horner, president; Debbie Preston, vice-president; Christine Hofacker, secretary; Dana Wampler, treasurer; Debbie Ramsey, reporter; Jane Traucht, historian; and Connie Sharp, parliamentarian.

Dance and party highlight Language club

The activities of the Modern Language Club and the programs include films, talks by persons who have traveled, fall and spring initiations, a Christmas banquet, Language Club dance, and a spring picnic.

The Modern Language Club donated to Dollars for Scholars, donated money to help buy band uniforms and choir robes, and pledged money to the Literary Society.

Latin Club recognized second largest in state

The Latin Club, one of the largest extra-curricular activities, had a full schedule of events during the year. Activities started with the slave auction and the informal initiation of sophomores.

Pecan turtles were again sold in the early candy sale. Money from this project helped to finance the year's activities. An all-out effort reaped a profit of $384.90, with high salesman Jenny Marshall.

Christmas brought the traditional Saturnalia Celebration. Among other festivities of the party was the formal initiation of sophomores.

At the Language Club Dance, Latin Club representative Christa Hittle was crowned princess to reign over the Valentine's Day dance.

Junior Classical League Convention was held on the Ohio State University campus in Columbus, March 14. Thirty club members represented Greenville in such contests as projects, costumes, and skits. At the convention, Greenville's Latin Club was recognized as the second largest club in the state.

The Latin Banquet, April 11, was the formal farewell to seniors. Freshman honor Latin students served as slaves. Among other entertainment was a dance presented by sophomore girls, a gladiatorial contest by junior boys, and a skit provided by seniors.

Other club activities included a wiener roast held in the fall where the sophomore slaves served the other members, and a spring picnic, held in April.

Serving the club this past year were Jim Johnson, president; Dick Post, vice-president; Buddy Betts, treasurer; Kathy Birt, reporter; Cindy Westfall, secretary; and Mrs. Eva Hensel and Mr. Charles Williams, advisers.

Student Council Solves complaints Of student body

Solving any problems or disputes of the student body is the job of the council. They are always open to suggestions through the suggestion box or the bulletin board. They sponsored the Homecoming dance, sold mums during the game, collected articles for the needy children of Appalachia, and worked more extensively this year on the dress code. The members are nominated through petition, then elected by the student body. There are eight sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and a president from the senior class, who is Tom Bowers. Vice-president is Pat Combs; secretary, Darlene Knick; treasurer, Bob McLear; and reporter, Fred Plessinger.

Block G adds spirit to GHS athletics

The organization, composed of senior, junior, and sophomore girls, is advised by Mr. Carl Weston. To finance the sweaters and bus fares, the girls sponsored bake sales, a slave auction, and the concession stand at the Harlem Diplomat game.

The sweaters were purchased with the help of the Greenville Boosters. Next year the girls hope to add emblems to the sweaters.

GAA stages tournaments, dance

Sports-minded sophomore, junior, and senior girls work to promote interest in all sports and to develop a spirit of good sportsmanship while members of the Girls Athletic Association.

The club sponsors intramural basketball and volleyball. In the fall the club holds its annual GAA dance.

Points are needed to be eligible to remain a member and also to participate in club activities throughout the year. These points may be earned by participating in various athletic activities such as bowling, walking, tennis, and swimming.

During the school year, Karla Vandivier served as club president. Cindy Westfall was vice-president and Peggy Browne was secretary. Miriam McCabe was reporter.

"G" association brings athletes of all sports together

To be eligible for membership in the Varsity "G" Association, an athlete must letter in one sport.

During the year, the "G" Association, under the guidance of athletic director Tony DiRocco, performed many functions. During varsity football games the "G" Association operated the concession stand. During winter basketball games they ran the coat check. The purpose of these and other money-making projects is to assist the athletic department in the purchasing of athletic equipment.

This past year's officers are as follows: Steve Gruber, president; Pat Combs, vice-president; Dan Gueth, secretary; and Tom Coffman, treasurer.

Senior seminar class forms new organization

The Literary and Drama Society is Greenville's newest club, which was started in November by the members of Mrs. Schmidt's senior seminar class. The club was originally composed only of the class and busied itself with putting out the "Expressionist," the school literary magazine which was also begun early in the year.

The club first branched out from the "Expressionist" with the bringing of the National Shakespeare Company to Greenville to present The Tempest. In two performances, one for the community and one for the school, the club was able to gross over $350.

Other club activities included a "name the magazine" contest, the printing of two issues of the "Expressionist," and several club meetings which featured poetry readings, panel discussions, and dramatic presentations from famous plays.

This year's club officers were: Debbie Willkins, president; Cindy Huffman, vice-president; Connie Dunaway, treasurer; and Sharon Brock, secretary.

GHS advocate staff publishes weekly school news

As in past years, the GHS Advocate staff continues to carry out one of the more demanding of the activities of any school organization: the writing and publishing of Greenville's school paper. Each week the stories that stand out as newsworthy are reported and photographed by the staff, so that the community, as well as the student body, can be kept up on GHS's activities.

All members of Mr. Devor's journalism class must contribute articles to the paper. However, the permanent staff consists of Sandy Klipstine, editor; Melonia Reck, assistant editor; Vicki Trittschuh, exchange editor; Debbie Trent, assignment editor; Jill Goubeaux, inch recorder; and John Netzley, photographer.

All articles contributed are counted in inches toward the end of the year when those with highest inch counts receive journalism awards.

Art club brightens the halls and library

The Art Club's job is to give students further understanding and appreciation of the world's great art. Sponsored by Mrs. Betty Neff, the club attempts to channel this desire into worthwhile student projects. The paintings on the library bulletin board, and the Christmas decorations are products of this aim.

Other activities of the club included a trip to the Dayton Art Museum and their monthly meetings.

This year's Art Club officers are John Shuff, president; Mike Bingham, vice-president; Debbie Trent, secretary; Kathy Bowman, treasurer; and Vicki Trittschuh, reporter.

Radio Club gives Football scores

Providing area radio stations with the GHS football scores over the Ham Radio Network of Miami Valley was a major activity of the Radio Club, WP8DCC. Other school year activities included attendance at the Ham Radio Convention held at Dayton, and participation in Field Day exercises.

These activities were captained by this year's officers: Steve Campbell, president; Craig Paul, vice-president; John Netzley, secretary; and Charles Rabley, activities coordinator.

NHS "Taps," Holds banquet, Book fair

Twenty-five seniors and fourteen juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society February 19, 1970. The surprise ceremony was accompanied by Mr. Reck, playing the Alma Mater. Students were "tapped" by a teacher and were chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service to the school and community. Each new member was escorted across the stage and congratulated by Superintendent Everett Potts and Principal Coney Cornett. Following the ceremony the initiates were sworn in by NHS President Michael Westfall. They promised to retain their high scholarship and continue to be a leader in the school and community.

NHS activities include a book fair in May and an Honors Banquet, also in the spring. Also, the club has its annual spring picnic. Mrs. Grace Schmidt is sponsor of the club.

VICA elects Sally Mong

This year at the State Convention in Columbus, Sally Mong was elected the state secretary for VICA. This entitles her to many activities and responsibilities. Among these include trips to St. Louis and Dallas, Texas.

Diversified Cooperative Training (DCT) and Occupational Work Experience (OWE) are study-work programs coordinated with the Vocational Industrial Clubs in America. Both programs are designed to provide the student with experience in an occupation, to better acquaint him with the skill involved. Promotion of high standards of scholarship and workmanship is another of the many purposes of DCT and OWE.

Club advisers are Wayne Johnson and Lewis Dewey.

BOE, ABC offer Extra-class Activities

Two continuing co-operative organizations are BOE, (Business Office Education) and ABC, (Agri-Business Club).

BOE is designed to give students a wider knowledge of business and secretarial work. In BOE one learns through both inside and outside activities. Some of this year's activities included a state BOE convention, a BOE style show, and a National Secretaries' Day.

This year's officers are Joann Shroyer, president; Vickie Hershey, vice-president; Debbie Meckes, secretary; Melonia Reck, treasurer; Virginia Dohse, historian; and Janet Schafer, parliamentarian. The club adviser is Mrs. Thelma Ross.

Agri-Business Club offers on the job training in local businesses to all interested students. Job opportunities and training are offered to those students interested in agriculture. The club adviser is Mr. Lowell McLear.

Co-op programs Give experience

COE and DECA provide further training for business careers.

COE is a new club in its third year of organization, under the supervision of Mr. Wilbur Long. These students work at various jobs, during the day, or after school. Officers are Denise Shane, president; Roberta Sparklin, vice-president; Jane Shroyer, secretary; and Deanna Lane, treasurer.

DECA, under the supervision of Mr. Clarence Gueth, Mr. William Gordon, and Mr. Paul Lewis, is a fairly new organization in its fourth year at GHS.

The members participate in selling booster pins during home football and basketball games, and sell calendars.

Officers are; DECA I; Tom Thompson, president; Jackie Ross, vice-president; Cheryl Wagner, secretary; Tom Godown, treasurer; for DECA II; Mike Tryon, president; Phil Noggle, vice-president; Tom Riegle, secretary; Bill Hunt, treasurer; for DECA III; Russell Edwards, president; Steve Arnett, vice-president; Joyce Howard, secretary; and Debbie Flory, treasurer. Monitors, librarians, office workers serve GHS

Chosen by Mr. John Kennedy, dean of boys, the GHS hall monitors are entrusted with the duty of keeping unauthorized persons out of the school halls during class hours. Among their duties are checking hall permits, assisting visitors, and running errands for teachers.

The student librarian's duties include checking out books, magazines, recording book fines, putting newspapers and magazines in their proper places, distributing overdue book reminders, and helping students find sources of reference material. These students are chosen by Mr. Wallace Fields on a voluntary basis, and should show leadership ability and a high grade average. Other duties include helping with the library window display, typing letters and book orders, and making index cards for all the books in the library.

A much-needed and appreciated service is provided by the office workers. These girls run errands, distribute attendance sheets, gather attendance slips and aid the secretaries in any possible way.

Students assist in cafeteria, school, stage

Backstage, the stage crew assists in all school-affiliated productions. They handle such tasks as lighting, prop staging, and curtain control. This year was an active one for the crew with various choral and musical reviews, the stage productions, assemblies, and helping the different clubs set up for skits and programs. Members include: Craig Paul, Scott Trissel, Steve Hale, Steve Garrett, Richard Oliver, Bill Wagner, Terry Cameron, and Rick Robbins.

Cafeteria workers work in the kitchen as servers, cashiers, and dish washers. Workers are: Greg Badger, Duane Pearson, Mike Null, Pam Thwaits, Edith Bryson, and alternates: Ruth Jones and Carol Bowers.

Custodial assistants work under the OWE program, Occupational Work Experience. Among the helpers are: Charles Raffel, Bennie Oostra, Rex Oda, Roelof Oostra, and Gary Hangen.

Mr. Martin Becker becomes new band director

The direction of the Greenville Senior High School Band was taken over this year by Mr. Martin Becker. This was a very big change for the band, but during the year they have again proven themselves as one of the finer bands in the state. For the fifth consecutive year, the concert band received a "superior" rating at district contest. At the state contest in Columbus, among the finest bands in the state, the band received an "excellent rating."

During the autumn the marching band provided the halftime entertainment for the football games, played in several parades, competed in contests at the Darke County Fair, the Marietta Band-O-Rama, and the Bradford Pumpkin Show, and marched in an exhibition at Northmont High School, and several parades. Instead of the majorettes which have been used in the past, this year the Wavettes, a drill team made up of twelve girls, marched in front of the band.

The band was also busy during the winter. There was a change to concert instruments by many of the students and tryouts by everyone for positions in concert band. A pep band was presented at every home basketball game, directed by Karla Vandivier. Several pep assemblies required the presence of the pep band and marching band. The concert band made its first public appearance at the Winter Musical.

With spring came the band contests and the annual spring concert, with Earle Louder as guest soloist. A recording session for the record was also held. A new money making project was instituted this year called Band Tag Day. This consisted of a concert uptown and the collection of donations from people who were uptown. The band members collected $740.00 for their efforts. This money will be used for new uniforms as needed and repairs on instruments.

Officers are: Gary Thompson, president; Karen Lewis, vice-president; Pam Howard, treasurer; Sue Pressnall, secretary; Rick Dill and Carolyn Edsall, sophomore representatives; Christa Hittle and Dan Ackley, junior representatives; and Sharon Brock and Jerry Sowers, senior representatives.

Choirs attend District contest

This year, the Advanced Choir and the Training Choir traveled to Troy on March 21, to participate in the District Contest. The Advanced Choir received an excellent rating, and the Training Choir received a fair rating.

The Student Council of the Advanced Choir was Kim Gilbert, president; John Aukerman, vice-president; Kay Denniston, secretary; Rosemary Marker, treasurer; Janice Klosterman and Mark Shepard, senior representatives; Jill McGriff and Steve Willman, junior representatives; Janis Edsall, student director; Bev Cromwill, accompanist; Mel Reck, assistant accompanist; and Steve Hale, stage manager.

The choral activities began when the Advanced Choir sang at the pep assembly for Homecoming. Then, in December the choir had numerous performances. They sang for the Kiwanis and the Rotary Clubs. All the choral groups then participated in "Winter Fantasy" along with the band and orchestra. In May, the choral groups again presented a performance entitled "Today." This performance also included a Senior Spotlight, where seniors from the various groups presented their own productions.

The Advanced Choir ended their year with a performance for the junior high students and administration.

Orchestra plays in various concerts during year

The GHS orchestra, directed by Mr. Linder, is one of the smaller organizations of GHS, but it was busy during the year with several activities. The Winter Musical, its first public appearance, included several Christmas songs played with the choir.

In the spring a concert was performed which featured strictly strings. A small vocal ensemble accompanied the orchestra in several of their more modern selections, and the classical music was performed also.

An exchange concert performed at Piqua Central High School ended the year's activities.

Coach O'Brien brings new spirit to wave

"This is one of the greatest groups of young men that I've ever coached. Their spirit is tremendous. We have a great group of seniors who've shown great leadership on and off the field. We have a darn good ball club." These were the words of Head Coach Dan O'Brien on the night of Sept. 5, 1969, immediately before the first varsity football game that he coached for Greenville.

Greenville went on the field that evening to lose to Xenia, who was to be rated first in the district. This became the story of Greenville's 1969 football season, as a spirited Greenville football team was defeated by teams that greatly outsized and outnumbered them.

Nevertheless, there were a number of bright spots during the football season. During this year Greenville set a new scoring record by defeating National Trails 71 to nothing. Another impressive accomplishment occurred when Greenville traveled to Bellefontaine and defeated the Chieftains at the dedication of their new stadium. This was the first MVL victory on enemy territory in several years.

Cross country team wins 6 meets, loses 3

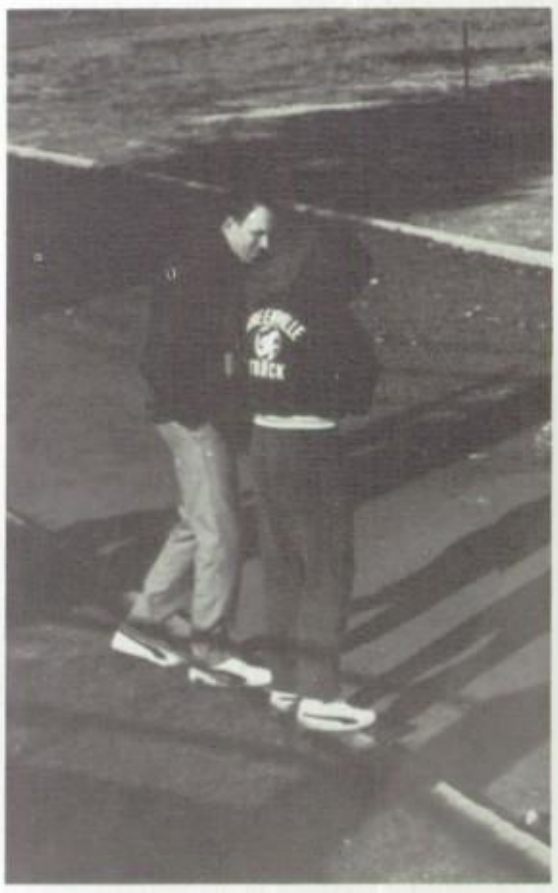
The Greenville cross country team continued its winning ways during the 1969 season. Under Head Coach Wayne Johnson the Wave won a total of six matches while losing only three.

At the end of the season, a proud Coach Johnson said, "We had a real fine season, even with a lack of experience and depth. We had only four seniors on the entire squad."

Along with a fine record in dual meets, the Wave Harriers also finished seventh in the district, and ninth at the Lowell Thomas Invitational.

If any team member, as an individual, could be said to represent the 1969 team, that member has to be senior runner Steve Gruber. Steve was continually setting the pace for the cross country team. From the beginning of the year to the end, it was Steve Gruber who came in first for Greenville. Among Steve's accomplishments were his first place in the MVL, the first time in Greenville history that a Wave runner placed first in the MVL meet, and his participation in the two-mile run at the state finals.

Although all individual honors must go to Steve, recognition must be given to all the sophomores, juniors, and seniors who helped make the team successful. It was runners like Rick Besecker, John Schmermund, and Ralph Peyton that made the crucial difference in the close matches.



Coach Johnson gives advice to a member of the team.

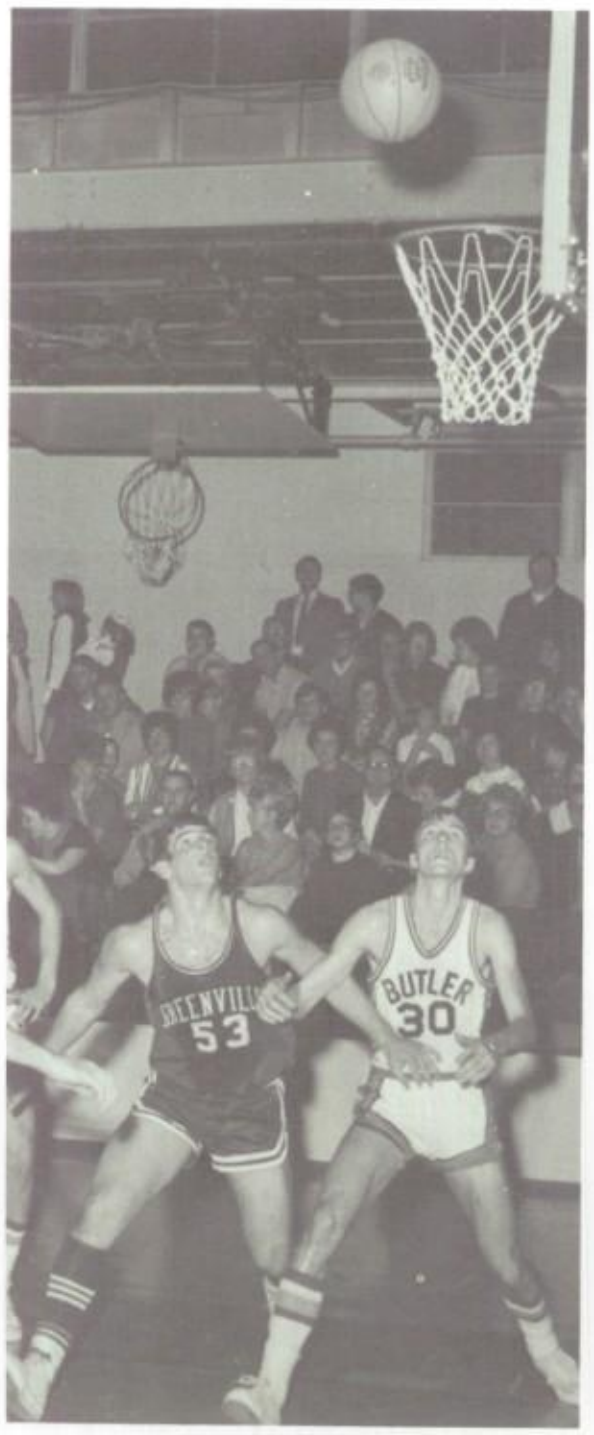
Green Waves fight hard against tough opponents

Greenville's varsity basketball team started the season off by beating St. Mary's, 73-54, in the traditional opener. After the game with Graham the Waves were 6-1, their first loss, inflicted by a Celina squad. The Waves were then beaten by Vandalia for their second loss. They finally finished with a 9-9 season.

The squad was led by senior forward Tom Bowers. During all of the season Bowers led the MVL in scoring. During his final varsity season Bowers became the second highest in Greenville's history, in points scored during a single varsity season.

In addition to Bowers, the varsity squad was composed of senior guard Dan Gueth, junior forward Rick Godown, junior center Bob Marshall, and sophomore guard Dave Sackett.

The MVL coaches and sportswriters voted Tom Bowers to first team MVL. Honorable mention was earned by Dan Gueth and Rick Godown. John Cecil was given special mention along with Sidney's Tim Zorn. Both were forced to sit out most of the season because of injuries.



Bob Marshall moves in for rebound.

Coach Keith Clark takes over junior varsity position

Coach Keith Clark's junior varsity completed their 18 game season with a 3-15 record. Rebounding and scoring were led by sophomore Tom Kindell and junior Doug White. Others were junior forward Greg Martin, junior Mike Studabaker and sophomores Joe Toman, and Tim Meador.

Playing in the MVL tournament Greenville's junior varsity placed sixth out of the six teams in the league; behind the Urbana Hillclimbers, the Bellefontaine Chieftains, the Lima-Shawnee Indians, the Sidney Yellow-Jackets, and the Piqua Indians.

Girls compete in intramural programs

Monday nights after school, the girls involved in the volleyball and basketball programs sponsored by the Greenville GAA departed from their usual reserved feminine role to become competitive athletes. Under the direction of Miss Julia Boston, tournaments were arranged and numerous sophomores, juniors, and seniors vied for first place honors.

Greenville wrestlers completed the season with a record of 9-7. The squad was young, with the team composed of two sophomores, eight juniors, and only two seniors. In spite of the team's lack of experience, they took third in the MVL and set five individual team records.

In the MVL tournament, second place honors were earned by Jim Winkler, at 107; Mike Hahn, at 165; and Steve Willman, at heavyweight. Pat Combs and Alan Bradley, at 175 and 185, took first place in their weight classes in the MVL. Pat also won the trophy for outstanding wrestler and Alan won the trophy for fastest pin.

Many previous team records fell during the season. Mike Hahn, Steve Willman, Pat Combs, and Alan Bradley all broke or tied the record for most wins in one season. Hahn and Bradley tied the record for most pins in one season. Hahn and Willman set a new record for lifetime wins. Bradley, with a season record of 19-0, became the first Greenville wrestler to complete a season without losing a match.

Coach Wayne Johnson was the man behind the Waves success in '70. The Waves captured second in the Piqua Mote Relay, third in the Troy Relays, first in the Dwight Salzman Relays, and second in the District meet. But above all the Waves won the MVL Track Championship.

This year seven records were broken and one was tied. Junior Greg Martin lowered the 180 low hurdles record to 20.5 seconds. Jeff Smith tied Hep Ring's record of 15.1 second in the 120 high hurdles. John Schmermund established a record of 13 feet in the pole vault. The 880 relay team consisting of Steve Langdon, Frank McKibben, Jim Johnson and Bob McLear set the record at 1:33.1. The mile relay finished twelfth in the State with a time of 3:26.6 which was a new school record. The team consisted of Jim Johnson, Steve Gruber, Bob McLear and Greg Martin.

Special attention must be brought to senior Steve Gruber. Steve broke three records himself: first, the quarter mile, time 49.6 seconds; second, the half mile, time 1:55.4; and third, the mile, time 4:29. Steve finished third in the half mile at the State track meet. This ended an outstanding career for Steve.

Tennis squad has winning season

Guided by five returning lettermen and a surprisingly fine sophomore doubles team, Coach Dave Cummings had another winning season in tennis.

The team was led by Tom Riffle, playing first singles. Riffle, a three year letterman, faced some of the state's toughest competition and finished with a fine 6-6 record.

Tom Bowers and Greg Tantum played second and third singles. Both finished the season with winning records. Playing first doubles were Alan Bradley and Jim Birt.

Dave Trimble and Mark Warner, playing second doubles, finished with a 11-4 record. They earned a second place in the MVL after defeating Urbana and Piqua.

In tournament play, Riffle played some of the best tennis in Greenville history as he won his first two matches and narrowly missed making the quarter finals.

Tantum also displayed talent as he too barely missed getting into the quarter finals.

Dave Trimble and Mark Warner were nominated for a seed, and were defeated by a narrow margin in the second round.

Young Green Wave golfers win 12, lose 4

During the 1970 season, Greenville golfers, led by Coach Bill Shepard, completed a highly successful season, highlighted by excellent finishes in both the major tournaments in which they were entered.

In the 1970 MVL tournament Greenville golfers took second place, very close behind first place Lima Shawnee. In the district, Greenville placed third behind Northmont and Springfield.

The team was composed of three juniors and two sophomores. There were no seniors and the prospects of having a district winning golf team are quite probable for next year.

Playing number one position through the year was Mike Suba, a junior. Mike continually shot excellent golf and received medalist honors in the MVL.

Tony Miller and Tom Farnham, both juniors and second year lettermen, both earned varsity letters for their outstanding play, as did sophomores, Jeff Hill and Jason Williams.

Baseball wins MVL with 13-7 season

Led by Coach John Suba, Greenville's varsity baseball squad finished the regular season with an excellent 13-6 record. The highlight of the season occurred when Greenville captured the MVL title, after a long and close race with Sidney.

With three games remaining, the race between Greenville and Sidney was quite close, and Greenville needed to win the final three games to capture the MVL.

Greenville beat Lima Shawnee in a ten inning battle in which Rick Claudy hit a bases loaded single with two outs.

Greenville traveled to Bellefontaine and won, thanks largely to the fifteen strikeouts pitched by John Cecil.

At this point, Greenville was tied with Sidney and needed to beat Piqua to win the MVL. Greenville, led again by John Cecil's strike outs, beat Piqua 1-0 and brought home the trophy.

The team was balanced with equal numbers of seniors and underclassmen seeing action. Next year's team will see six returning lettermen.

Awards at end of year highlight athletics

During the school year, athletes were honored both at the nonacademic awards assembly and at the banquet sponsored by the Greenville Athletic Boosters.

At the nonacademic awards, Steve Gruber was presented the Raudabaugh Award. Steve was first in the MVL in cross country and set school records in the 440, 880, and mile run. He was third in the state in the 880.

The banquet featured guest speaker Paul Robinson of the Cincinnati Bengals. Mr. Robinson spoke of his childhood and how he personally achieved success.

All athletes who participated in a school sport were awarded team pictures of individual teams of which they were a part.

Individual outstanding athletes in each sport presented the team pictures and talked about the season.

Sophs end year With party

Last fall 305 anxious but confused sophomores entered GHS for their first year of studies and high school activities. The class began its year by electing the following officers: Dave Trimble, president; Marilyn Arnold, vice-president; Diane Holzapfel, secretary; Jill Goubeaux, treasurer; and Mark Warner, reporter.

The year was filled with new experiences. They joined clubs, went to games, yelled for GHS Teams, and learned that each new year brings new teachers and different subjects.

The sophomore class also had many memorable activities. The top 15 students in the class were honored by being selected to serve at the Junior-Senior prom "Camelot." Three sophomore girls, Connie Cox, Peggy Crawford, and Cathy Powell were elected to be reserve cheerleaders for the school year. To bring a memorable end to their sophomore year the annual sophomore class party was held. The party started with swimming at the city pool followed by a picnic and dance at the high school.

Juniors continue pattern of traditional activities

In the fall of 1969, 277 juniors elected their class officers. They are as follows: Greg Martin, president; Joann Shroyer, secretary; Gail Grim, treasurer; and Susie Lehman, reporter.

The officers of the class of '71 were previously held by Greg Martin, president; Pat Combs, vice president; Martha Brandon, treasurer; Kathy Birt, secretary; Susie Lehman, reporter.

During the school year the juniors participated in many activities. These activities included the junior-senior play entitled "Where Is the Mayor." The juniors were responsible for the tickets, programs, and publicity. The money from the play went toward financing the junior-senior prom.

The theme for the prom was "Camelot." It was planned, constructed, and presented by the juniors in honor of the seniors.

Greenville class of '70 looks toward tomorrow

In September of 1967, 295 anxious members of the class of '70 entered Greenville Senior High School. They elected the following class officers: Dan Judy, president; Nick Palmer, vice-president; Cindy Huffman, secretary; Charlene Evans, treasurer; Sandy Klipstine, reporter.

Tom Bowers, Becky Thieme, Angie Copp, and Bob McLear represented the sophomores on the Student Council.

Debbie Bing and Darlene Knick were chosen in the fall as reserve cheerleaders.

Karen Lewis and Kathy Keller performed as majorettes with the marching band.

In April, the 20 top-ranking sophomores served at the junior-senior prom, "Gone With the Wind."

May 17, a rainy day, the underclassmen enjoyed a picnic and dance in the cafeteria.

During the junior year, 267 juniors became more involved with the function of their high school each adding his own personality and skills to the class of '70. The class elected Dan Judy as president, Janice Klosterman as vice-president, Angie Copp as secretary, Annette Fierst as treasurer, and Sandy Klipstine as reporter.

Kathy Keller, Karen Lewis, and Cheryl Runner performed as majorettes with the state-ranked marching band.

Debbie Bing and Darlene Knick were chosen as varsity cheerleaders. Darlene was also crowned the F.F.A. queen.

In February, Rosie Marker was chosen as the Language Club princess.

The junior play, "Don't Take My Penny" presented March 28, 1969, was a great success. It was the last of the class plays to be held.

The junior year was highlighted by the junior-senior prom, "South Pacific" April 25, 1969.

The junior year also saw thirteen girls chosen as ushers, and fourteen juniors inducted into the National Honor Society.

Cindy Huffman and Cindy Westfall were delegates to Buckeye Girls' State, and Dan Gueth and Dan Judy were Boys' State delegates.

The fall of 1969 was the beginning of the end. 259 seniors started their last year at Greenville High School.

The class officers were again Dan Judy, president; Janice Klosterman, vice-president; Angie Copp, secretary; Annette Fierst, treasurer; Sandy Klipstine, reporter.

Tom Bowers served as president of the Student Council. Other senior council members were Greg Tantum, Angie Copp, Dan Gueth, Darlene Knick, Steve Heinrichs, Debbie Bing, Bob McLear, and Buddy Betts.

Debbie Bing was chosen captain of the varsity cheerleaders.

Karen Lewis served as head majorette. Senior members of the kickline were Cindy Westfall, Paulette Wallischeck, Beverly Miller, and Brenda Baden.

At the traditional homecoming game October 3, 1969, Janice Klosterman was crowned as the homecoming queen. Her court consisted of Rosie Marker, Darlene Knick, Angie Copp, Debbie Bing, Carol Hosbrook, and Rose Mary Goodpaster. Janice also represented Greenville High School at the Bradford Pumpkin Show.

After weeks of hard work, the seniors sold $12,119.12 worth of magazines to help finance the 1970 Chief. Darlene Knick was high salesman for Greenville with $645 and won recognition for being the top seller in the U.S.

Boys represent Greenville

Dan Judy and Dan Gueth represented Greenville Senior High School at Buckeye Boys' State this past June. They were selected by the American Legion Auxiliary on their interest in governmental affairs.

The purpose of Boys' State was to give a high school boy an idea of how state and local governments should be run.

Both boys spent much of their time campaigning for their specified offices. Dan Gueth was elected sheriff while Dan Judy was elected senator. They then spent their remaining days holding their given offices and fulfilling their campaign promises.

Alternates to Boys' State were Alan Rismiller and Rick Claudy.

Girls go to Buckeye

Cindy Huffman and Cindy Westfall were selected by the American Legion Auxiliary to represent Greenville at Buckeye Girls' State this year.

The girls left in June for an eight day stay in Columbus where they learned more about state government.

During their visit the girls not only learned about state Government, but actually took an active part in a specially set up imaginary government.

Cindy Huffman was appointed a member of the school board, while Cindy Westfall was appointed clerk of the school board.

Both girls enjoyed their stay at Girls' State and made many lasting friendships.

Alternates to Girls' State were June Ely and Vicki Sharp.

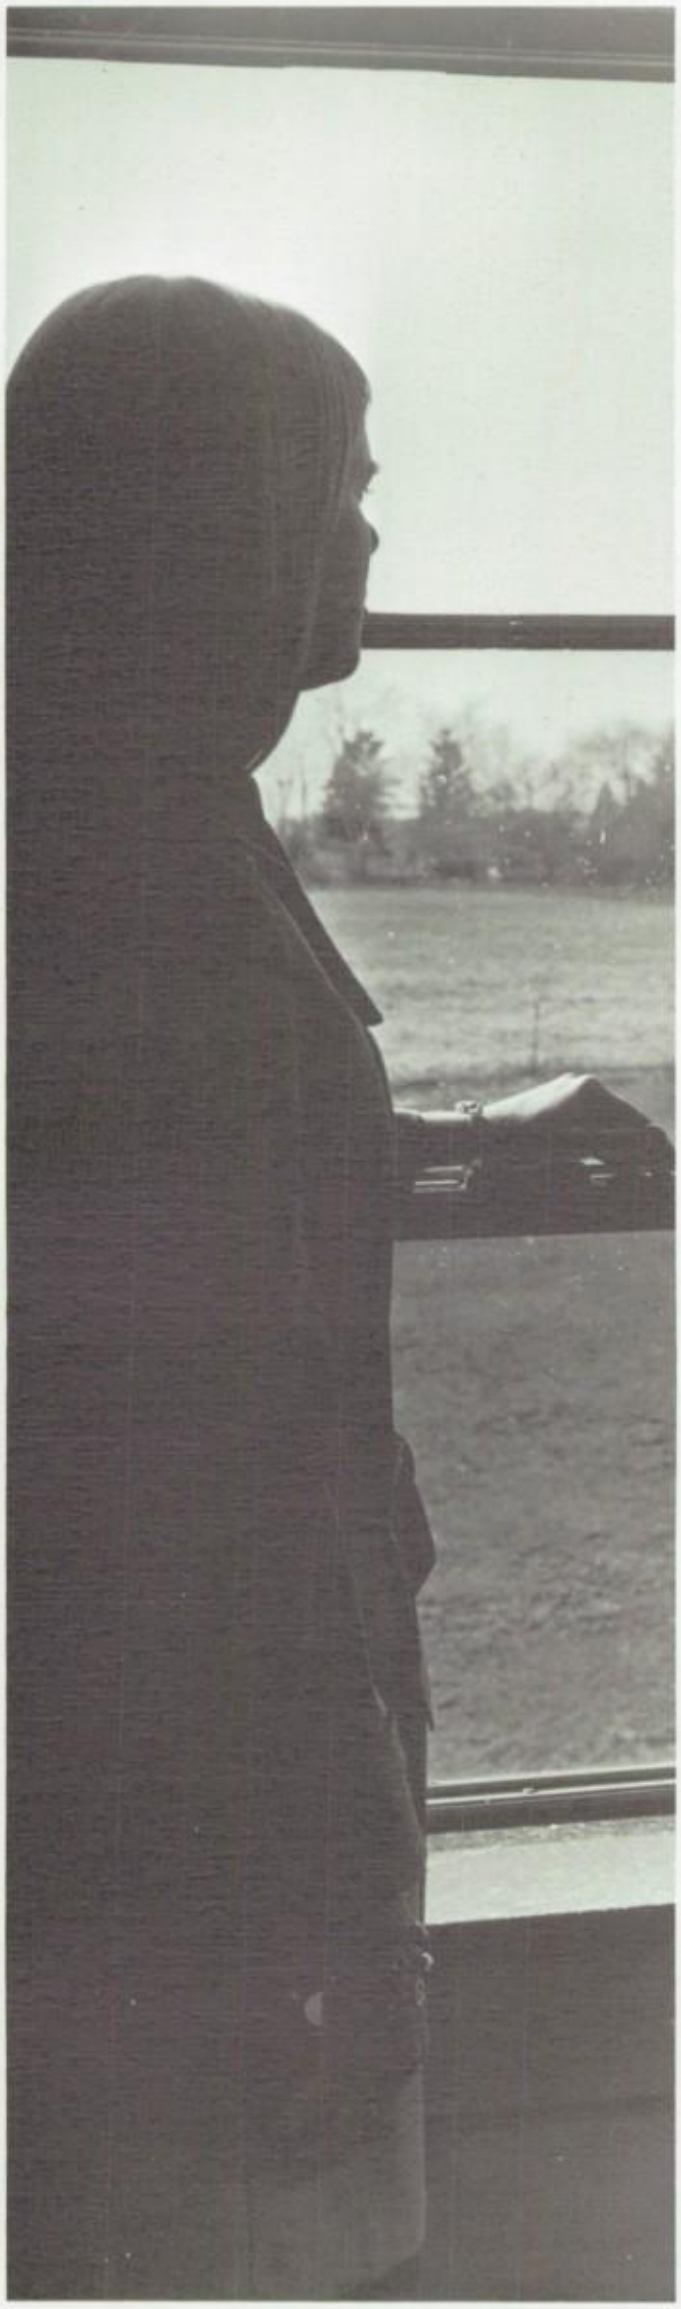
Sob assembly is one of the highlights of the senior year. Here sob assembly chairmen discuss assembly activities with Dan Judy, senior class president.



The end of the senior year brings many questions — where to next, will life be the same and as happy? The answers linger on in future days as seniors look on to a new life and a new day.

One of the senior projects held every year is Dollars for Scholars. Here seniors Karin Alberts, Brenda Baden and Cindy Westfall fill out information sheets as Tom Coffman gives the streets he has to cover.

Law day was observed at GHS April 30. To commemorate the true idea of law day a court trial was re-enacted at an assembly. The case put before the 10 man jury was on the length of a student's hair. After long discussions and debating between the two acting lawyers the jury was asked to make a final decision. The defendant was found guilty. While the jury was deliberating, a question and answer session was held.

Pam Baker ranks 1st; Elese Sizemore Ranks 2nd in class of '70

Senior class leaders academically this year were Pam Baker and Elese Sizemore.

Pam Baker not only led the senior class academically this year, but she also led the class of "70" throughout her four high school years. For her high scholastic achievements, Pam was honored by being named valedictorian of the 1970 class. Elese Sizemore, a new student this year, was named salutatorian for her high scholastic average.

Dedication

Kathryn Griner retires after 23 years As Counselor, Adviser, Teacher

Mrs. Kathryn Griner, counselor, adviser, and former teacher, is ending her GHS career after 23 years of service.

Mrs. Griner started teaching at GHS in 1947. During her teaching years she taught geography, English, public speaking, French I and II, Spanish, and American literature. In 1952 she also took on the task as Dean of Girls. Mrs. Griner held this position for 17 years.

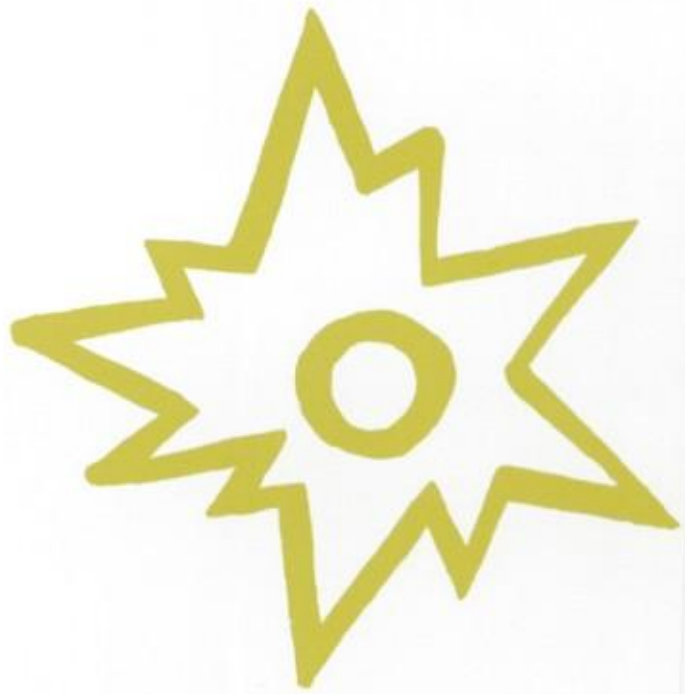
Besides being teacher and counselor, Mrs. Griner also was adviser for many different class activities. Among these were: Senior Class sponsor, French Club adviser, Student Council adviser, co-sponsor GAA, usher sponsor, Principal's Advisory Council, adviser for National Honor Society, and TCC adviser. Mrs. Griner also served as "Chief" adviser for 12 years, and was honored by the company sponsoring the magazine sale.

Mrs. Griner received her education from various colleges. She received her bachelor's degree at BGSU, her master's at University of Michigan, and did further graduate work at Northwestern and Miami University.

When asked how she felt about leaving GHS, Mrs. Griner had this to say, "It's been so enjoyable. There's nothing else that I'd rather do than teach and be associated with the school."

"Chief" adviser was one of Mrs. Griner's main activities while she was at GHS. Here Mrs. Griner is at one of her weekly meetings with a previous yearbook staff.

FACULTY



"I shall light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out."

paraphrased from Hugh Latimer

Greenville School Board appointees Supervise school

The overall task of running the Greenville School District is shared by the school board, superintendent, and his assistants.

The School Board spent much of its time this year devising a new teacher salary scale and introducing the new vocational educational program. Other duties of the board are to select school administrators, teachers, personnel, and instructional classroom material.

Everett Potts, superintendent, is in charge of organizing and administering school programs, allotting financial resources, acquisition and use of buildings, and purchase of material and equipment.

William Maxwell, assistant superintendent, aids Mr. Potts in supervising transportation, non-certified personnel, building maintenance and cafeterias.

Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction is Ed Gruber. His duties include teachers' evaluation, supervision of classroom procedures, and improving classroom instruction.

Mr. Cornett is aided By four assistants

Centered in the office are those activities that allow GHS to function from day to day; namely, administration, supervision, and guidance.

Mr. Coney Cornett, in his twelfth year as principal, is in charge of all administrative and supervising functions relating to students, teachers, and personnel.

Assisting Mr. Cornett are, Mr. John Kennedy, assistant principal and dean of boys; Mr. Karl Weston, dean of girls; and Mrs. Mary McPherson and Mrs. Kathryn Griner, guidance counselors.

These people cooperate in such duties as keeping attendance records, scheduling, student guidance, and career and college counseling.

below: Bottles reflecting a year of chemistry passed.

Our day has come to end another year. A year full of excitement and boredom, of achievements and failures, and of course, laughter and tears. Now the after-school activities, the excitement of a long-awaited pep assembly, and the rushing to early-morning meetings are memories, memories which should not be forgotten.

Time moves so quickly and with it so many memorable moments elapse. It was the hope of the 1970 annual staff to capture as many events as possible which surround the student's lives. We hope that throughout the pages of this book you can find at least one picture or one word which brings back a memory to you.

Throughout this year the annual staff has had some difficult times when deadlines were hard to meet. If it had not been for some special help, some of the deadlines could not have been met on time.

We would like to thank Steve Campbell and the Greenville Advocate for providing us with several sports photos.

We would also like to give special thanks to Mr. Phelps who helped us over some rough spots when we did not know what we were doing.

We would also like to acknowledge Mr. Hirtzinger, our Taylor representative, and Mr. Baird, Powell Studio's photographer, for their help throughout the year.

We would like to express our gratitude to the administration and teachers for their untiring patience throughout the magazine sale.

Special recognition should also be given to the seniors for earning more money during the magazine sale than any other senior class.

I would also like to say thank-you to a great staff. I realize how hard it was to come to a staff meeting and work for several hours after you had a long day at school. Your determination to work and willingness to work together made my job as editor very easy.

I would like to give an extra-special thanks to Mr. Devor, our adviser. For without his patience, guidance, and perseverance we would never have been able to complete the book on time. He will never know how much his advice was appreciated when everything seemed to be going wrong.

I would like to wish next year's editor good luck. I hope she has as cooperative and hard-working staff as I did.
